MARRIAGES.

The Lexington Herald yesterday, says: "The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Hopkins, of Carlisle, and Mr. Finley Burris, of Bourbon county, was quietly celebrated Wednesday afternoon at the home of the Rev. Mr. Simpson, the officiating. The only witnesses were Mrs. Burns Bayless, of Lexington, and her brother, Mr. Allen Hopkins, Miss Nancy Rice and Miss Katherine Mathers, of Carlisle, who accompanied the young couple here.

"The bride is a beautiful young girl and looked lovely in her stylish wedding gown. She has frequently visited Mrs. Bayless, one of her most intimate friends, who was married two years ago on the same date.

Mr. Burris is a popular young Bourbon county farmer, and is also well known and popular here. They left after the ceremony for a short wedding trip and will then make their home in Bourbon.

"Following this ceremony, Miss Bessie Burris and Mr. Charles Hopkins, both of Bourbon county were quietly married. Miss Burris is a brother of Mr. Finley Burris and Mr. Hopkins is a cousin of the other bride. They also left on a short wedding trip and will make their home on the bridegroom's farm."

Samuel Kerns and Miss Julia Turley, of Carlisle, were married at the Leland Hotel Lexington, at 8 o'clock Tuesday night by the Rev. James Simpson.

Dangers of Defective Plumbing!

Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas bearing germs or contagious disease to which the human system readily succumbs. WHY NOT MOVE FORWARD.

Fayette county has joined the group of counties in Kentucky to have "home coming" during the week of the June "Home Coming" celebration for the State. Among the other counties to prepare for the entertainment of their old residents are: Harrison, Woodford, Clark, Henderson, Garrard and Jefferson.

The Bourbon News was the first paper in Kentucky to suggest a "county home coming" and urged our citizens to take the matter up, but no one seemed to agree with us about it, or if they did they have been as silent about it as a dead mackerel. We are glad though that enterprising citizens of other counties have seen fit to take up the suggestion and push it to a successful culmination. The people of Paris and Bourbon county seem never to take hold of anything like this, and why, we are free to say, we can't understand. Surely it is not because of selfishness, for no more hospitable people live on the face of God's earth than the citizens of Paris and Bourbon county. It cannot be they so satisfied with their lot that they have forgotten there is such a word as enterprise in the English language. We say it cannot be, but when we consider the matter it can be, and maybe this is the reason. Understand we don't say it is, but really we would just like to know the true reason why there is such a lack of enterprise and get-up in the citizens of this community. We see such movements as the one mentioned made such big occasions in other places, that cannot compare with Paris in any other way, that it causes us to wonder in utter astonishment.

CAN'T YOU SUGGEST A REMEDY.

Several months ago nearly a hundred citizens of Paris was attacked with a severe case of "Commercial Clubism." For several weeks you would have thought that some old "hoss" trader had visited the town and used the same remedy on those afflicted with the disease as he used on "hosses" to make them look spry and active—kinder gingerfied. Well, as we were going to say eighty-five of our citizens signed and the Paris Business Men's Club was organized, or partly organized. Committees were appointed and much enthusiasm manifested for several meetings. Then no quorum showed up, the President and Secretary were on hand at the appointed time for meetings, but could not go it alone and gave up in despair and disgust. The committee on ordrafting the Constitution is still out, perhaps in, for it was suggested that they saw their shadow and went back in their hole. No further comment is hardly necessary, but don't it look to you that it was a bad lot of ginger used and the next dose given should be of a more lasting quality, or change the medicine to a red pepper pod, using one daily instead of a little ginger semi-occasionally.

DON'T BLAME THE CLERKS.

There have been several bills introduced in the Legislature at this session to relieve the congestion of business in the Circuit Courts. We don't believe Legislation is needed to remedy this state of affairs. Judges are needed that will not waste so much time themselves and who will compel lawyers to have their cases ready for trial. The long and continued litigation of a case injures the lawyer's business and at the same time he is nine times out of ten the cause of the continuance of the case from Court to Court. Clients get disgusted and tired of paying big fee bills and quit litigating to save the enormous costs that accrue from these continuances. If you want to see the real trouble in regard to the congestion of business in the Circuit and other courts, all you have to do is to attend court and you will soon see where the trouble lies. It is simply the dilatory manner in which the Judge allows the business of his court to be run by the lawyers. Don't blame clerks when they present big fee bills, but put the blame where it belongs, on your lawyer.

ATTEND THE MEETING.

Let every man that has taken stock in the Bourbon County Agricultural Society be present at the meeting Saturday and take interest in the proceedings. We are surprised to hear that some of our wealthiest farmers and stock-raisers have so far not shown any interest in the reorganization of this old time-honored institution that has in the past made Bourbon County stock known throughout the country. They have not refused, mind you, to lend assistance but they have not manifested the interest in the undertaking that they should. They are the men above all others that would be expected to take hold and become the leaders in the movement. Let them be present and start on the ground floor with these other gentlemen who have been so active. We are going to have a fair and that settles it, a big one at that, so come in and take some of the hardships at the start and not wait to back in after several successful fairs have been held. Let every body work hand in hand and success is assured. Get in the band wagon.

WORKS WELL IN FEDERAL COURT.

One bill which has not yet passed the General Assembly ought to become a law before that body adjourns. It is one where in criminal cases the jury would pass only upon the guilt or innocence of the accused, and empower the Circuit Judge to affix the term of years of sentence. This is the practice in the Federal Court, and works well in that tribunal.

HOMES WANTED FOR CHILDREN.

The Kentucky Children's Home Society has sixty boys and girls between the ages of three and nine for whom they desire good, Christian homes. These children are unusually bright and attractive and we guaranteed that no family be disappointed in a child we send them.

The winter months have given us an enormous amount of work to do. We are receiving more children now in a month than we formerly did in a year and as a rule, the children are much brighter and much better looking and much easier controlled than children we formerly handled.

Will you not show your interests in this great work for humanity by giving a home to one of these little ones? Unless you have a first class home in every respect and unless you are moral and stand well in your community, do not apply, as we will, under no circumstances, place a child in a home unless it can get the very best advantages.

This is the Master's work, inasmuch as he said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not." If you are interested in this charity, and would like to take a child, please address the Kentucky Children's Home Society, No. 2116 Von Borries Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

Yours very respectfully,
 GEORGE L. SHEHON,
 State Superintendent.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, March 7.—The removal of the capital of the United States to the Ozark Mountains in Southwestern Missouri is the startling proposal and in a memorial introduced in the House of Representatives this week by Mr. Shartel, of Missouri. The communication comes from the editor of a small Missouri paper located at a microscopically undiscovered point, and instructs the Representatives in Congress of the "show me" state to introduce bill for the transference of the seat of government as proposed, "for sanitary, economic, and other reasons." The Honorable Mr. Elliott, who is responsible for the petition, urges the change especially for sanitary reasons, suggesting that "a great deal of the inefficiency and crookedness at Washington is possibly attributable to the malarial condition of the atmosphere." Furthermore he does not like the capital located on one edge of the country, open to the attack of what he calls "the unfriendly powers of the old world," adding that "it was located in the Ozarks such an attack and the consequent destruction would be impossible. Germany might bombard Washington with her warships, but never a city buried in the mountains of Missouri. Congressmen have been quick to appreciate Mr. Elliott's thoughtful and sympathetic fears for their health and bodily safety, but at the same time they seem to prefer the depressing conditions and dangers of Washington to the attractions of Missouri. The petition has been buried in a convenient cubby hole of the District Committee, and it seems safe to assume that the government will continue to do business at the old stand for a few years more, at least.

The railroad rate question is fast outstripping all others in the Senate, and, if indications go for anything, will produce one of the liveliest debates of years. Already Senators Foraker and Dolliver have made their opening speeches, even though the Hepburn bill will not come up for actual consideration until after March 9. The speech of Senator Foraker was a notable effort, which has created a profound impression. He criticised the Hepburn chiefly on the three points as follows:

"It authorizes the Commission to compel disagreeing railroads that have nothing in common except a physical connection, to operate jointly as through routes on such rates and terms as it may impose.

"It dispenses with jury trials in an important class of actions to recover money by providing a procedure that makes such trials impossible.

"It imposes such extreme, and burdensome penalties as probably to invalidate the measure in that respect. It does not provide for a proper review by the courts of the orders of the Commission, but seeks to exclude the same."

Senator Dolliver's speech in defense of the bill, although it was received with evident sympathy on account of his treatment at the hands of the committee, was hardly in the same class with Mr. Foraker's. Mr. Dolliver announced himself as opposed to any amendments of the measure, and he paid Mr. Foraker a compliment by stating that the Ohioan had produced a workable and satisfactory plan for those who believe in court review, and rather than vote for an amended edition of the Hepburn bill, he would give his approval to Senator Foraker's measure. Indeed, it is hard to tell just how far this question of court review will complicate the already surprising situation. It is certain, however, that those Senators who believe that the law should be administered by the courts will make a strong stand for an amendment to this end.

Dr. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, has been giving some interesting "tippie talks" to the members of the Committee on Interstate Commerce connection with the pure food bill. He has even gone so far, in these talks in which the members take much interest, as to manufacture any sort of whiskey on the spot. All that Dr. Wiley finds necessary for this purpose is a bottle of the alcohol, a tube containing burnt sugar for coloring purposes, some water and some flavoring extracts. In his first experiment he began by mixing up the stuff, and when it was colored he poured some of it into a glass and handed it around.

"This, gentlemen, is Scotch whiskey," said the doctor, proudly.

It was sniffed at and snuffed at and even tasted by a few of the more fearless members. All agreed that it was a mighty poor substitute. The concoction smelled like a newly paved asphalt street, but Dr. Wiley declared that to be the "smoky smell" of Scotch. After this experiment, the manufactured rye and Bourbon whiskeys, "and by adding a few drops of 'aging oil' declared them to be fourteen year old goods. The committee did not seem anxious to sample them, however, and when the doctor asserted that there was mighty little pure whiskey in the country, the members became more gloomy. The "lightening distillers", or "the home whisky maker" as he has been variously dubbed, is to give several more of these "tippie talks"; but the committee threatens to do things if he does not produce a more palatable line of goods in the future.

Appointments for Kentucky and Tennessee have been comparatively few this week. The nomination of James Jeffreys for the office of customs at the port of Memphis, previously announced, has been confirmed, while two Kentuckians, John W. Berryman, and Andrew W. Darling, have been nominated for post-masterships at Versailles and Carroll, respectively. MAYO.

Dr. C. H. BOWEN, the optician, will be at the store of A. J. Winters & Co., on March 8th.

SHE DOTTED ON DIAMONDS.

Martha Bigstaff, of Georgetown, who lives in a house in the rear of Mrs. James E. Cantrill, wife of the Appellate Judge, offered several diamonds for sale in that city and sold one to a Georgetown jeweler. It was learned later that she had stolen the gems from Mrs. Cantrill. Chief of Police Zach Lusby has recovered 12 diamonds, an emerald, a diamond ring and part of a necklace. The diamonds had been taken from the settings. The value of the recovered stones is placed at $500. The girl is only 14 years old and will probably be sent to the house of correction.

FATAL FIGHT OVER BILLIARDS.

NEW TRACTION SURVEY.

The survey of the Paris, North Midletown and Mt. Sterling Interurban traction line was completed to Mt. Sterling several days ago. There being some objection to the route surveyed, the engineers began on a new route from this city Tuesday morning. It being contended that the original survey will run through too many large farms while the new route now being surveyed will pass through a more populous section of the county. It is also contended that on the original survey, the road will run for two miles through the lands of a wealthy Bourbon farmer, who declines to donate the right of way, while the route now being surveyed will pass through farms where the owners are exceedingly glad to give the right of way in order to secure the advantages afforded by the road.

LEXINGTON WINS OUT.

The bowling contest between Paris and Lexington Wednesday night was won by the latter in a most exciting finish, in which Lexington carried off the honors by a brilliant rally in the ninth frame, Scott of the Lexington team, virtually winning the contest by making a difficult spare in the ninth frame of the last game.

Seibold, of Lexington, and Savage, of Paris, rolled the highest averages of the two teams. Eight games have been contested for during the season, Lexington winning five of them.

MEETING OF FISCAL COURT.

The Bourbon County Fiscal Court was in session yesterday and little business of importance transpired. It was ordered that a number of claims amounting to $387.47 be paid.

Ordered that a warrant be issued to First National Bank, for $7,589.80 to bear six per cent. interest from date to pay an overdraft.

Ordered that First National Bank be allowed $65.96 to pay interest on overdraft to date.

Turnpike Supervisor Redmon filed his report for February, showing the expenditures of $235 for repairs during the month. Report was accepted and he was allowed $500 for March repairs.

Ordered that Supervisor Redmon be allowed to appoint overseer of crusher at $1.50 per day.

Cashier Buckner Woodford, of the Bourbon Bank, appeared before the Court and stated that he understood the county was in need of money and as the Fiscal Court was holder of something over forty shares of stock in the Bourbon Bank and that as a business proposition, he thought it was nothing more than right that the county should borrow some of the money now needed from the Bourbon Bank, as it paid the same rate of interest and at the same time getting some of it back in dividends paid by the bank to the county. No action was taken in the matter.

There's only one good, reliable self-filling fountain pen on the market and that's the "Standard". Every one guaranteed by Varden & Son.

GRANTED OVER MAYOR'S VETO.

The long drawn out question of granting Sammie Brannon restaurant license was settled last night at Council meeting by a vote of 5 to 2, thus granting the license over Mayor O'Brien's veto of several weeks ago.

The Mayor stated before the vote was taken that his position on the question had been fully stated, and it mattered not to him if they granted the license, but it would certainly not change his position on the Sunday closing law. If it become necessary he would go the limit of the law and appoint five extra policemen for Sunday duty.

Those voting for the license were Brannon, Duvall, Taylor, Dempsey and Woods; against, Parrish and Webb.

FROM GARTH LODGE.

Editor News:—Will you allow us through your columns to express our thanks to the merchants of Paris for their exceeding liberality in contributing to the bazaar given by Garth Lodge, A. O. U. W., for the benefit of the hospital fund. Notwithstanding that they have been called a number of times in the last few months for contributions for various charitable affairs, they were exceedingly kind to our soliciting committee, and contributed liberally. To the ladies who assisted us, to the public who patronized the bazaar, and to all who lent us their encouragement, we are deeply grateful. We wish especially to thank the Elks band who so generously furnished us free of cost the music on Tuesday night.

Respectfully,
THE COMMITTEE.

Mr. Bowser Has Another "Spell"

He Comes Home to the Long Suffering Mrs. B. Ready to Make Things Hum.

SHE PARRIES THE BLOW

It Falls Upon the Fat Grocer, Unsuspecting and Innocent of Any Wrongdoing.

(Copyright, 1905, by McClure, Phillips & Co.)

MR. BOWSER didn't have to wait to catch sight of Mr. Bowser as he came home from the office the other evening to know that he had one of his old fashioned "spells" on. She heard him kick the gate open with a vicious bang, and the way he rattled his key in the front door and twisted at the knob was proof that he was out of sorts and had a chip on his shoulder.

"It's a pretty cold night outside, isn't it?" she asked as she met him in the hall.

"You didn't imagine it was an August night, did you?" he sneered in reply.

"Well, dinner is all ready, and I've got your favorite dish—roast mutton."

"Humph! I told you the last thing before I left the house this morning that I wanted beefsteak."

"I didn't hear you."

"I suppose not. It's got so nowadays that you never hear me, except when you want to. There's got to be a change around this house or there'll be a calamity."

SHE HEARD HIM KICK THE GATE OPEN WITH A VICIOUS BANG.

Mrs. Bowser said no more. She knew she'd catch it after dinner, and she spent the dinner hour working up her nerve to meet the situation. Mr. Bowser growled and grunted and muttered all through the meal, and when it was finished he stalked upstairs like a judge and turned on Mrs. Bowser with:

"Didn't I see a gas bill around here somewhere last night?"

"You did. I went down and paid it today. The amount is $2.50."

"What? You have let those highway-men rob me again! You sneak down there and hand over the money without saying a word to me!"

"I have paid the gas bills every month for the last three years. I don't know where the sneaking comes in."

"But you paid $2.50, and you knew that it was nothing short of extortion."

"The bill is only 30 cents more than for last month, and I'm sure we have burned the additional gas. There was nothing to raise a row about."

"Oh, there wasn't," shouted Mr. Bowser, as he looked around to see if the cat was in kicking distance. "There was nothing to raise a row about when your husband was being fleeced, black-mailed, robbed, swindled and done up! That's the kind of wife you are! This morning I looked for half an hour for that checked coat of mine, but couldn't find it. When did you sell it, and for what price?"

"I never sell any clothes out of the house," replied Mrs. Bowser.

"Then you gave it away or thrust it into the furnace. That coat cost me $10 and was as good as new, and yet to spite me you have made away with it. By thunder, woman!"

"You got that coat at a bargain sale last spring for a dollar and a half. After wearing it three or four times you said it was too tight under the arms and too small in the back, and you tossed it into the storeroom. The first time we had the lawn mowed you gave it to the old man who did the work. Don't you remember saying that his face reminded you of your father's?"

"Never! Never! You either sold or burned up that coat, and it was for spite. However, we will pass that over.

ernoon, and this is one of the stray pieces. Were you going over as far as the drug store this evening?"

"Never you mind whether I am or not. There are certain things that have got to be settled, and you needn't try to sneak out of them. I give you the cash to run this house, and yet a day or two ago I saw a grocery bill lying around calling for $2.20. Explain that."

"It's right there on the mantel now. You will see that it is made out to Brown and left here by mistake."

Mr. Bowser was caught again, but, drawing a long breath, he continued:

"I am told by Brown and Green and Jones that their wives get help in the kitchen at $18 per month, while you have been paying $20 right along. Is it that you don't care how soon we bring up in the poorhouse?"

"Are you sure that the women you spoke of pay only $18 per month?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"Only $18."

"Well, I haven't paid but $16 for the last three years, and I have had even better girls than they have!"

Mr. Bowser turned pale and clinched his fingers, and it was half a minute before he said in husky tones:

"Everybody around here quit taking ice daily a full month ago, but in your desire to make the house cost as much as possible you"—

"Only take it three times a week," she finished. "I made the change the 1st of October."

"But during the summer the ice man has beaten you out of at least 1,000 pounds of ice, and you have supinely submitted to be robbed."

"He has weighed the ice every morning this summer, and on many occasions he has given me three or four pounds over. Anything else, Mr. Bowser?"

There was, but it took him three or four minutes to think it up. Then he said:

"Two months ago I attended a bargain sale and bought me four pairs of suspenders. This morning I wanted to put on one of the new pair, and I hunted all through the house and could not find hide or hair of them. I said nothing at the breakfast table, but now I demand an explanation. Did you send those suspenders to your brother Dan or sell them to some junkman?"

"If you will go upstairs you will find them just where you put them. They are hanging on a hook in your closet under a coat."

There was one more thing. Mr. Bowser had been saving it for a solar plexus blow.

"Come here," he said as he advanced to one of the back windows and pulled aside the curtain.

"Well, what is it?"

"That—alley—gate! It's down!"

"Yes, it's lying flat."

"And you went out and jumped on it and tore it down to make me cost! Don't deny it, woman! I have caught you red handed."

"Two months ago," explained Mrs. Bowser, "you found the top hinge broken. I wanted to get a man to fix it at once, but you said the job was to be left for you. The gate has been yawning and sagging ever since, and the high wind of this forenoon finally blew it down. Shall we sit down now and have a game of cards?"

Mr. Bowser stalked down the hall to the hutch and put on his overcoat and hat, and when he went out into the night he was gritting his teeth. He had lost his case, and he was ready to make somebody sweat for it. He leaned over the gate and looked up and down, and after a moment he espied the fat grocer delivering a late order. Then Mrs. Bowser heard a whoop and a yell, a clattering of heels on the icy sidewalk, and she sat down and drew a long breath of relief. It was the windup, and next morning Mr. Bowser would be all right again.

Secret Drinking Devices.

The sanitarium was for women only — women dipsomaniacs — a luxurious place. The rate was $125 a week. "This," said the superintendent, "is our museum. Odd, grotesque, eh?" The museum was a collection of instruments for secret drinking that had been taken from female dipsomaniacs. There was a carriage clock with a false back that would hold a half pint of whisky; there was a muff with a round flask of india rubber in its hollow inside; a mouthpiece like that on a baby's bottle was hidden under a rosette. The owner of the muff would press it to her face, a very natural and common movement, and at the same time take a stiff drink. There were a dozen sorts of bouillons, candies of all shapes and hues, each containing two or three fingers of brandy. A fan — it would not open — had room for a half pint in it. A number of purses were nothing but whisky flasks covered with beadwork or leather or silver or gold. There was even a prayer book with a flask inside. — New York Press.

Should Not Cage Parrots.

"Nature never intended that parrots should be confined in cages," said a bird fancier. "They get gouty feet, become irritable, are liable to fits and convulsions, lose their feathers and pick themselves till they are a mass of mutilated deformity. Confinement and improper diet are the causes of all this. If a parrot gets an irritation of the skin and draws blood while picking himself he will keep on till he is a horrid spectacle. Once tasted, a thirst for blood has been created and will never cease."

"I made a trip to Guinea once, and when I saw the happiness of the birds in a state of freedom I declare my conscience smote me. I saw thousands of them, from the lovely little grass parakeet to the king parrot, and nothing can exceed their grace and delightful expression in the open country." — Milwaukee Free Press.

Bears One Crop and Dies.

The sago palm tree bears but one crop of fruit. Its load of nuts is its first and final effort in the way of fruit bearing. The nuts become ripe and are strewn in thousands around the tree until the great stem stands up by itself, empty and bare. The branches turn brown and drop one by one to the ground. Inside the trunk the work of decay is going on until what at one time was a mass of white sago and pith becomes nothing but a collection of rotten brown fibers. One day the trade wind blows more strongly than usual, and the leafless column of the trunk falls with a crash, destroying in its fall many of the young palms that are already springing from the nuts scattered some months before.

The Sibylline Books.

It is recorded of Tarquin the Proud, seventh emperor of Rome, that an old woman came to him with nine books, which contained, she said, sacred oracles. She asked an enormous price for them, and when the emperor refused she flew into a rage, threw three of the books into the fire and still asked the same price for the remainder. The emperor again refused, and she thereupon threw three more into the fire and still asked the same price for the three remaining. This so astonished the emperor that he bought the three at the price for which in the first instance he might have had the nine. These were the Sibylline books, and their contents were long looked upon by the Romans as divine oracles.

Ants as Eaters.

Ants are terrible fighters. They have very powerful jaws, considering the size of their bodies, and therefore their method is by biting. They will bite one another and hold on with a wonderful grip of the jaws, even after all of their legs have been bitten off by other ants. Sometimes six or eight ants will be clinging with a death hold to one another, making a peculiar spectacle, some with a leg gone and some with half the body gone. One singular fact is that the grip of an ant's jaw is retained even after the body has been bitten off and nothing but the head remains.

A Curious Will.

By the terms of the will of one Dr. Wilde of St. Ives parish, Huntingdonshire, England, his trustees were directed to spend £50 in the purchase of a piece of land in St. Ives, the annual rent of which was to be set aside for the purchase of six Bibles at a cost of 7 shillings each. To decide who shall have them he requested his trustees to "prepare a saucer with three dice upon the altar table of the parish church and let the Bibles be raffled for."

Disguised blessing.

Scroggs—Henpeck told me that he regarded the toothache as one of the greatest of temporal blessings. Baggs—What an incomprehensible idea! Scroggs—Yes, he said it made him forget his other troubles.

Balloonists say that birds' flight is limited to 1,315 feet above the surface of the earth.

HE "FIXED" THE COLONEL.

(Eli Perkins in Judge.)

When General Sherman came up from Charleston to visit the Army of the Potomac, Sherman's Army had marched from Cumberland Gap, through Knoxville and Atlanta, to the sea. "Old Tecumseh's" soldiers were great fighters and marchers, while General Howard's soldiers were great on dress parade; so Howard thought he would astonish Sherman, and he arranged a great parade at Bailey's Cross Roads.

The finest Eastern Regiments, with the newest and smartest uniforms, were selected, among them the Thirty-ninth New York. They were the crack drillers of the Corps. In the Regiments Band was a handsome drummer boy, who was a great forager. He would always have turkeys and chickens while the other boys were starving. No one knew where he carried them, but they found out afterwards that he carried them in his drum.

When they beat up the parade and the handsome Thirty-ninth came dancing along General Howard looked up at one of his Colonels and exclaimed:

"Colonel, that Thirty-ninth drummer boy ain't drummin'! Tell your Adjutant to ride over there and tell him to drum. General Sherman is here—he wants to make a good show. Ask the fellow why in thunder he doesn't drum?"

The adjutant cantered up to the drummer and cried out: "You drummer boy there! Why don't you drum?" You're just making your sticks go. Why the devil don't you drum?"

"Tell the Colonel," said the boy in a low voice, "with his hand over his mouth, 'that I've got two turkeys in my drum, and one is for him and General Sherman.'" "Sick, is he?" shouted the Colonel, "Why didn't he say so before? Send him to the hospital!"

ENOUGH TO LIVE ON.

The Chicago Clearing-house Committee, liquidating the affairs of the Chicago National Bank of which John R. Walsh was president, has offered to sell to an Eastern syndicate the Walsh railroads, the Southern Indiana and the Chicago Southern, $27,500,000. Should the offer be accepted it will enable the payment of all obligations assumed by the Chicago Clearing-house and leave Mr. Walsh $3,500,000.

WILL HELP RUSSIA.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says that John D. Rockefeller has gone to Premier Witte's rescue. This information comes from an eminent statesman, who in speaking of Russia's financial crisis, said:

"Unless Count Witte gets money immediately a Cabinet and financial crash will be inevitable. The Treasury is depleted and all efforts to obtain a loan have proved futile."

"Russia must have $200,000,000 to settle the Mendelssohn and other pressing accounts. Count Witte wanted to issue an interior lottery loan, but the mere rumor that he had it in mind caused the price of former similar issues to tumble. Thereupon Mr. Rockefeller offered $200,000,000, for a concession for railroads and a grant of land on both sides of the prospective lines."

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. C. G. Green gives personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. We did not ask them to urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. New trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

—Mr. Henry Small while enroute for Paris Monday morning in a break cart, leading a horse, met the north bound freight just after passing the railroad crossing near the bridge, the horse being led became frightened, broke away from him, and ran back to the railroad. It was struck in the side by a box car and severely injured. It was brought to the livery stable of Carpenter Bros., where Dr. F. A. Herbert dressed the wounds.

—The community was startled Tuesday morning by the announcement that Phil Thomas had suicided by taking carbolic acid. Mr. Thomas resides about three miles from town on a small place purchased a few years ago of Mr. Thos. McClintock. On the morning in question he did not get up to breakfast. The family was at the table when a strange noise was heard in his room. Mrs. Thomas went to the room at once and the odor of carbolic acid was very perceptible. He was conscious for about an hour, but could not be induced to take an antidote. He talked but little and did not assign a cause for the terrible deed. All he did say was that there was no family trouble. Doctors Smith and Fisher were hastily summoned but he died in about five minutes after they arrived. He was about forty-five years of age and leaves a wife and two daughters to mourn his loss—Mrs. Hillock, his youngest daughter, who resides with him and Mrs. Kearns, of Sharpsburg. The remains were interred in the Millersburg cemetery Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock after a short service at the home by Rev. Clark, of the Methodist church, of Moorefield. The grief-stricken family have the sympathy of the entire community. Mr. Al Thomas, of Paris and other relatives from a distance attended the funeral.
